ILLUSIONS AS A CHALLENGE FOR PUPILS

A visit to the House of Illusions gives pupils the chance to experience science, psychology and art in a completely new way. With more than 70 exhibits, the museum encourages exploration, critical thinking and personal interpretation. They can choose between a guided tour (60 minutes) or an independent visit. A guided tour provides clear structure, expert explanations and a strong link between the exhibits and the curriculum. An independent visit encourages self-directed exploration and responsibility for one's own learning.

The House of Illusions offers pupils a refreshing break from traditional classroom learning and digital content, placing them in an active role as explorers. Everyone can experiment, recognise patterns and discover new insights without fear of right or wrong answers.

The visit also strengthens class dynamics, as shared exploration encourages communication, cooperation and discussion from multiple perspectives. They develop creativity, reasoning skills and readiness for new challenges. Teachers often emphasise that pupils experience the House of Illusions as an engaging, relaxed and educational visit that connects beautifully with curriculum content and everyday life.

ILLUSIONS HUNT QUIZ

EXPLORING THE MUSEUM IN A FUN AND EDUCATIONAL WAY

Illusions Hunt quiz is a learning activity that turns a visit to the House of Illusions into an even more interactive experience. The programme is based on years of working with school groups and developed together with teachers and educators. It enhances the visit and offers pupils a deeper and more meaningful insight into the world of illusions.

It is designed for secondary school pupils who, through tasks, questions and challenges, dive further into the world of illusions while refreshing and expanding the knowledge gained during their visit. For older pupils, the activity is prepared as an interactive, independent version that encourages self-led exploration, critical thinking, curiosity and ownership of their learning.

Illusions Hunt brings together play, exploration and knowledge in a complete learning experience. The relaxed and enjoyable atmosphere creates a positive learning environment, while solving challenges successfully gives pupils a sense of achievement and strengthens their confidence.

The activity connects science and imagination and inspires questions and ideas that go beyond the classroom.

ILLUSIONS HUNT IS AVAILABLE EXCLUSIVELY AS AN ADD-ON TO THE MAIN VISIT OF THE HOUSE OF ILLUSIONS.

DURATION: 30 MINUTES (AFTER THE GUIDED TOUR)

IT CAN ALSO BE COMPLETED AS PART OF A 1-HOUR VISIT WITHOUT A GUIDED TOUR.

- Independent visit + Illusions Hunt (1 h): 16,5 € per pupil
